Master Schedule Definitions

Any number of master schedules can be created and used in creating MRP or DRP plans. The schedules can be manually loaded by individual dated entries or loaded from both (or either) open sales orders and marketing forecasts.

A system option provides the ability to automatically relieve the master schedule based on the shipment of sales order items (reversed during the receipt of an RMA). As the entry of a sales order relieves the marketing forecast, the sales orders plus the forecast will always provide a current time phased demand for end products.
